We, Seniors, Say "Thank You"

Farewell to our teachers of New Palestine High
The time has come to say good-bye;
We thought and thought and racked our brains
And wrote and wrote but all in vain-No way could we find, to express our feelings
For your kindness and your patience which has known no ceilings.
Below are our attempts to accomplish this feat,
We hope, that in no way, we have been indiscreet.

Miss Willis, with her cheerfulness and tact, Taught us English and Latin and also how to act.

Mr. DeMunbrun is a really nice guy, In math and guidance he always rates high.

Mrs. Waltz, with her winning smile, Wields pen and piano in an extraordinary style.

Mr. Banks, a hit with all the guys, Teaches them how to be healthy and wise.

Mrs. Gruber, who is a friend to everyone, Makes English and literature a great deal of fun.

Mr. Cones, gives us all a square deal, Whether it be in sports or behind the driver's training wheel.

Mr. Neeley, our "southern charm" boy, Makes ag. and science the student's joy.

Mr. Rumble, who newly joined the N. P. forces, Is a whiz at teaching commercial courses.

Mrs. Waitt, who guides the home ec. classes, Is rated tops by all the lasses.

Mr. Moore, a gentleman of wit, Makes his math classes a sensational hit.

Mr. Laffin, our "music man,"
Brings high honors to our chorus and band.

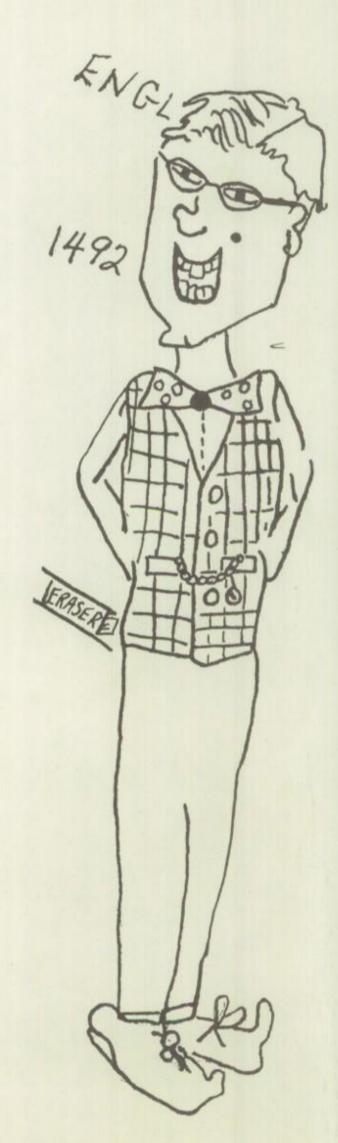

Mr. Eckart, a wise and witty man, Teaches social studies with a skillful hand.

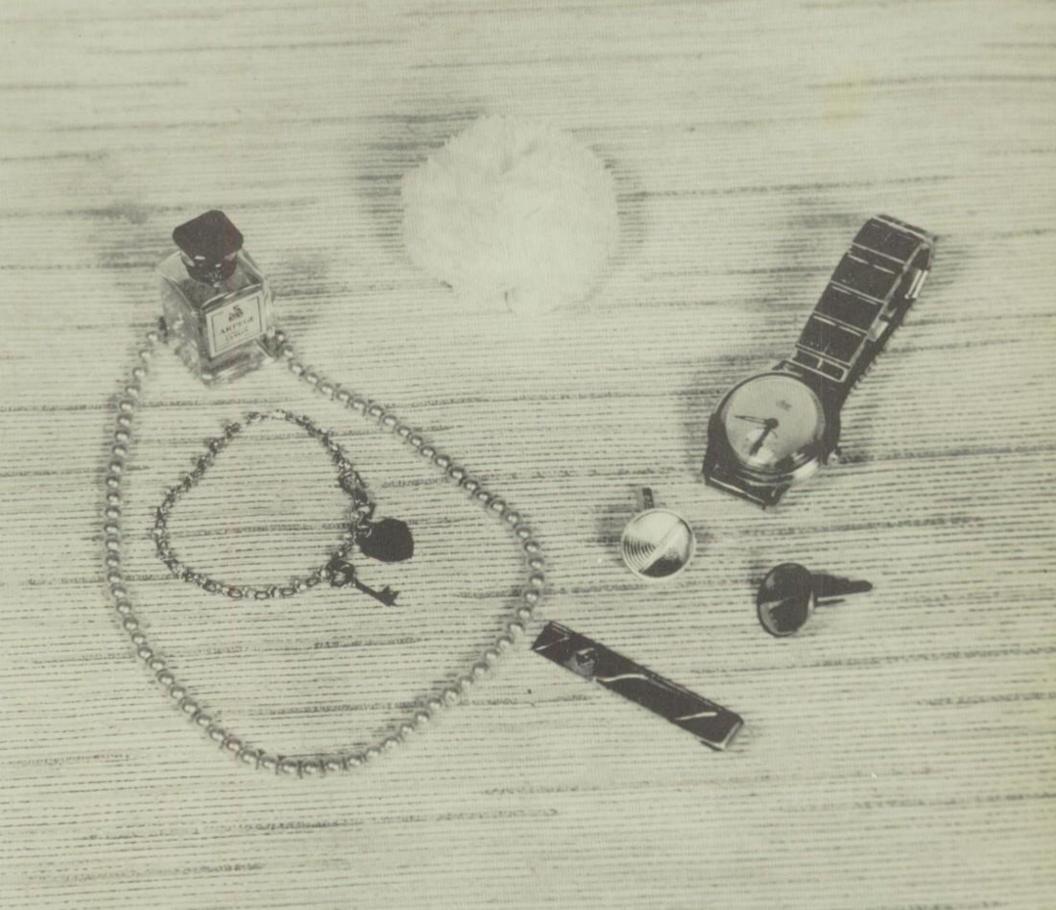

Mrs. Wheatley, in her kind, generous way, Makes history and phys. ed. really pay.

Mr. Everson and his traditional cards of white, Through the dark halls of science has shown us the light.

Mr. Stanley, who is new to us this year, Has filled his classes with good cheer.

Mr. Wilson, with his endearing ways, Will be our inspiration throughout our days.

Mr. Raymond Laffin

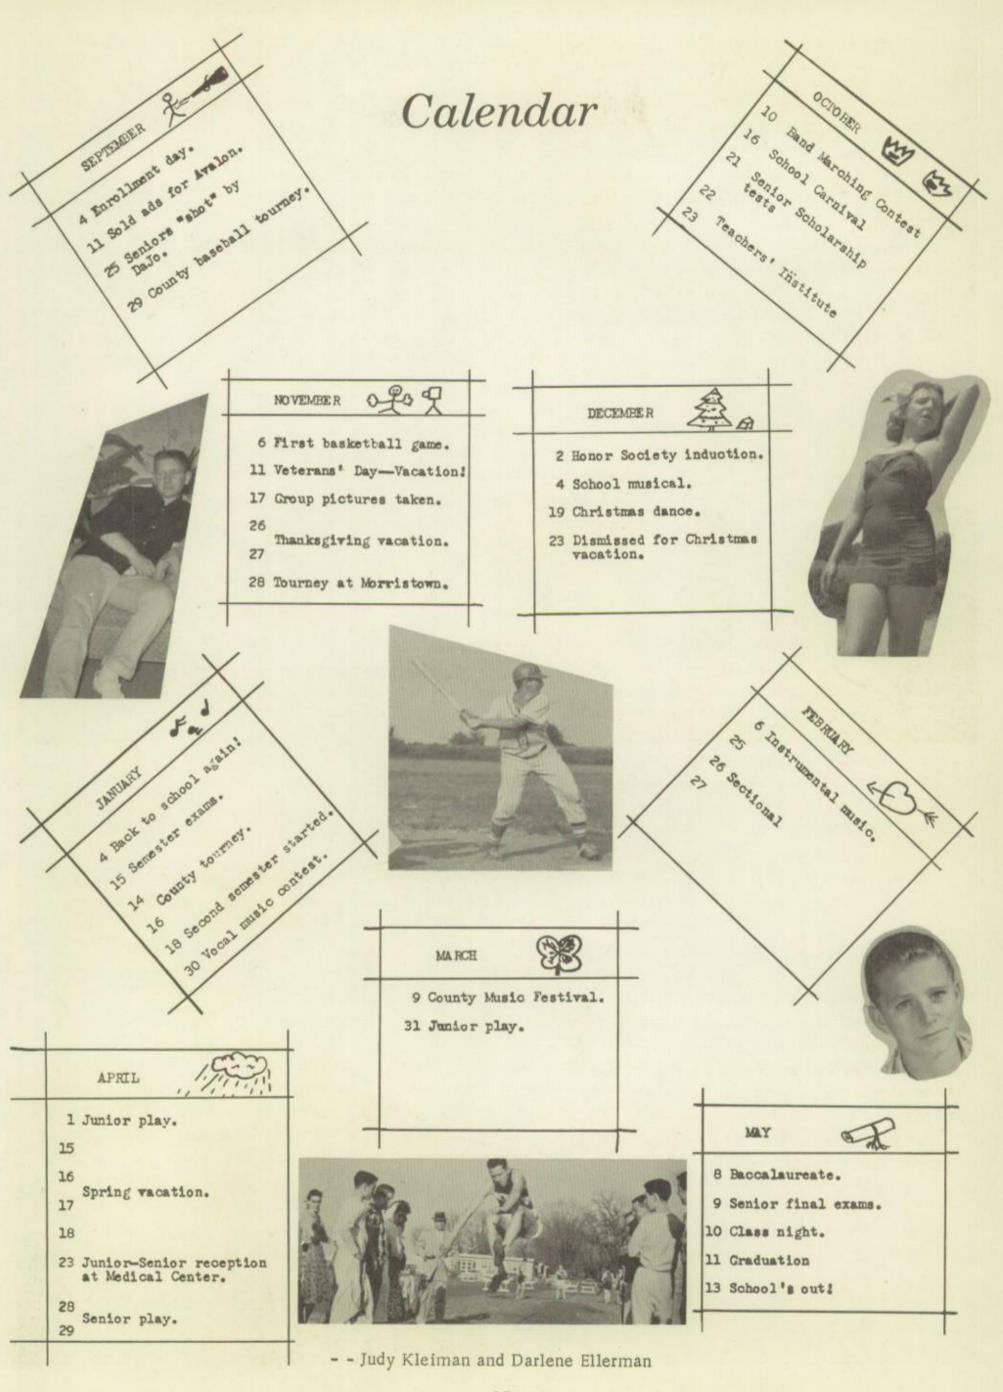

This is one year we seniors will surely never forget. It has been so full of plans for our future. But undoubtedly we couldn't have withstood its trials and tribulations without those kind-hearted sponsors who gave freely, their time and effort to our class.

Yes, we the seniors of 1960, thank you, Mr. Everson and Mr. Laffin, sincerely.

Mr. Charles Everson

Fond (?) Memories

Of the thirty-seven first graders who started school in 1948 in Mrs. Herd's room, Sue Basey probably remembers that year better than anyone else. Because of her lack of experience in pencil flipping, when she aimed at Bonnie Larrabee, she hit the teacher instead.

The biggest performance of the year for Mrs. Wheeler's Rhythm Band, the Christmas program, was cancelled because of a heavy snow. Susie Trees missed her only chance for show business when she didn't get to direct "Teddy Bear's Picnic."

We thought we were all doomed when the door of our third-grade room blew shut locking Miss Swain and all of us in, but the day was saved when Mr. Terry, our music teacher, removed the lock. This was also the year that Dana Boots was whipped for eating candy.

Mrs. McNamara took us on a tour of the Coca Cola Bottling Plant and WFBM tlelvision studio in our fourth grade. Tom McNamara and Sandy Kleine had a fight this year, and although Tom was always complaining that his mother never let him do anything, Sandy said Tom came out on top in the fight. Bob Grigsby kept busy this year writing "love notes" to all the girls.

Mrs. Lantz made us push all of our seats together in the fifth grade because the boys had put grasshoppers down the backs of all the girls at recess, but this was no punishment for some of us because there were a few budding romances, and sitting together made holding hands easier. We took a tour of Weir Cook Airport, Children's Museum, and the Monument Circle. This year we also gave a going-away party for Larry Lease.

The annual class picnic was rained out in our sixth grade, but we still enjoyed ourselves in McNamara's big garage. Mr. Cones just couldn't bear the thought of having to leave us so he came along to junior high with us.

The seventh and eighth grades are packed with memories of getting lost in those long halls, going to the wrong class and trying to stay out of the way of those immortal seniors. Although Wilma Smith was our class treasurer in the seventh grade, she never saw or had any class money. Sue Basey and Tom McNamara received the American Legion Awards.

Our freshman initiation must have been really something because Mr. Wilson said it would be the last! Judy Kleiman and Steve Helm were given awards for being the best sports. Janet Wood was the school representative for queen in the county track meet. Patty Ortel received some very interesting "love notes" in Mr. McNamara's algebra class. Don Dodd, Jim Toon, and Robert Young got into trouble for throwing erasers in algebra class. Ronnie McMurrer, Phil Price, Larry Lease, Charles Elrod, and Paul Crank were in "skid-row" in Mr. McNamara's algebra class. Their test grades added together would not equal 100.

In our sophomore year Sue Basey was given the position of head drum majorette, Jerry Ashworth made varsity, and Sandy Jackson was track queen. Driver's Training presented a problem to Marilyn Moeller, who almost ran in the ditch, Darlene Ellerman, who turned right when told to turn left, and Janet Wood, who went the wrong way down a one-way street. This year we also received our class sweaters.

In our junior year Jim Cecil, Dennis Buckley, Troy Abbott, Marvin Ortel, and John Conner brought honor to the school by their judging. Bill Wiedenhaupt came to the conclusion that the band could not get along without him. Rudy Rugenstein and Louis Jacobi were always getting caught eating pretzels in Mrs. Wheatley's history class. Priscilla Young was a very efficient student librarian. Cale Kleiman was Mr. Laffin's "handy man." Sara Griffin made "enemies" in typing class because of her ability to type faster than the rest of us. Our Junior-Senior Reception was held at the Marrott Hotel. Later we enjoyed a party at Sue Basey's and breakfast at Tom McNamara's. Patti Richardson and Tom McNamara were chosen to attend Girls' and Boys' State. That year we received those long-awaited-for class rings.

In our senior year Linda Whitesell received the D. A. R. award and was chosen to sing in the madrigal. Jerry Ashworth was Junior Rotarion, and Patti Richardson and Larry Lease were queen and king of the carnival. Richard Dye received the oil painting from DaJo's this year. Van Bush was pitcher for the baseball team. Steve Copple was kicked out of Bookkeeping a few days for talking. Harry Gundrum had 100% for six years. In his opinion no one but a good boy like himself is capable of a record like this. Rudy Rugenstein and Patti Richardson had per cent taken off for throwing each other's books on the floor in Trig class. Jackie Toon thought she was "in love" during her senior year, but Sharon Mueller's only love seemed to be shorthand; every free minute she wrote shorthand. Judy Farmer and Bonnie Larrabee spent their senior year arguing with their fellow classmates. Carolyn Seifert was chosen the most athletic in our senior year. She just couldn't let her brothers get ahead of her. Our reception was held at the Medical Center.

And now we climax these twelve memorable years with baccalaureate, class night, and commencement.

All of us have many, many precious memories which will always remind us of our twelve years at New Palestine.

Class Poem

The war was on its way,
And then we came along one day;
We were the soldiers that didn't scare away,
But it could be no other way.

We were born of war moms, Who at first feared the bombs; Now it is a missile cone, The future still is not known.

Then came the time to go to school, We thought it was cool, man, cool, And when we made the teachers mad, They found a way to make us sad!

Now it is time to graduate, A thing that we would anticipate, But when we do, we'll be so sad To know the teachers are so glad!

- - Bill Wiedenhaupt

Class Song

Just Doc and We, Seniors, Getting our diplomas soon! We did our best for you All through our 12 years too.

Now we will graduate this Wednesday night--We'll celebrate 'til the dawn's early light!

Now good-bye, and we'll miss you, All our friends we've come to know, We'll miss you Palestine--Faculty and students too.

The Sizzling '80's

The time: 1980

The place: The North Pole

The situation: A trip in Santa's new supersonic sleigh built by the world's greatest engineer, Louis Jacobi, driven by chauffeur Harry Gundrum. Because Sue Basey had nurse'd Rudolph through his recent battle with pneumonia, while Linda Whitesell taught the elves how to read and Lt. Col. Wilma Jean Smith guarded the place, Santa decided to take them all along on Christmas Eve.

On this trip we saw many of our old classmates.

One of the first was Rudy, who has a florist shop in Siberia where he is specializing in tree stumps. (Dead ones)

In the Belgian Congo we found Darlene and Steve running a great Camera Shop.

Ronnie and Sharon are managing a mission for lost antique dealers in China.

Gale owns the best dairy in Hawaii specializing in pineapple-flavored milk.

A ranch for old war horses is operated by Marvin in New Zealand.

Judy, Jackie, and Carolyn are driving all over Los Angeles in their 1926 touring car chasing "Kookie."

Bob Grigsby runs a successful agency to hunt missing lovers.

Janet and Richard Dye are raising minks in Wisconsin.

Here in Indiana Sandy Jackson is now in the process of buying the House of James.

Also in Indiana Van, Steve, Dennis, Jim Toon, John Conner, and Bob Young own a night club. It was still going strong at 3:00 A.M.

Susan now has a pack of little Browns running around the mechanic shop.

In New York Patty Ortel is designing coats for poodles.

Sandy Kleine has a monopoly of gas stations along the Amazon for native boats.

In Europe Sara, Dana, and Marilyn are writing a Dear S. D. M. column for the Service Men's Gazette.

Tom McNamara, now in Rome, has just coached the American Olympic basketball team to its latest victory.

Judy and Don live in a mansion at the edge of the Mediterranean with their seven children Troy is also in the Mediterranean trying to raise icebergs.

Paul is now the champion roller skater of the Foreign Legion.

In Egypt we found Larry, Jim Cecil, and Phil, each with his own harem.

We found Bonnie and Jerry operating an ultra-modern motel in the Sahara Desert for tired camel drivers.

Prescilla is working as a counter spy in the Russian Embassy.

On the way home we listened to station ZERO in the Antarctic where Bill is a very prominent radio announcer.

Our last stop was in Iceland to visit a performance at Patti Richardson's Theatrical School for polar bears.

Sectional Tourney

The New Palestine Dragons played their best basketball of the year in the Sectional Tourney.

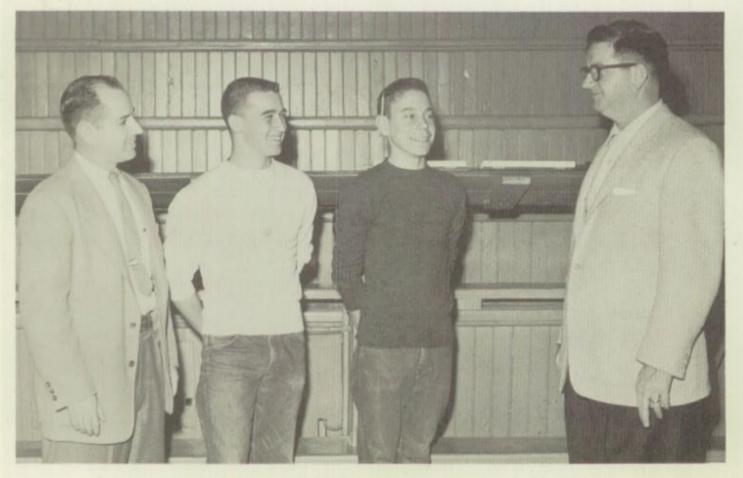

After defeating Decatur Central 58 to 53 in a well-played game, they lost to Southport 64 to 59. Southport was the strongest team the Dragons played all year, but the New Palestine boys gave them stiff competition throughout the contest. It was a great team effort, by a fine group of boys.
